Red Potatoes

- The red skin color comes from natural plant pigments called anthocyanins.
- Red potatoes grow under dirt, not on trees!
- Farmers plant pieces of potatoes to grow new ones.
- Red potatoes grow best in cool weather. Warm Georgia weather helps potatoes grow faster.
